Overview

Travail is a Web – based platform. It bridges the gap between Student and Company by providing one stop platform for companies to post drives and select students as per their eligibility criteria and allow students to apply for drives and track the application. Admin exists as the Super User in this portal.

Problem Statement

Most times students happen to miss opportunities just because of non – timely information about the ongoing drives. And company finding difficulty in finding the right candidate because of pile of resumes and incomplete information about candidates. I Tried to solve this problem through this portal by allowing companies to recruit based on the required skillset among the applicants.

Technological Stack

1. Frontend- HTML, CSS
2. Backend – Flask

I used Flask because of modularity. It helped me make project piece-by-piece, also giving me full control over the components like database and authentication decorators that I used. And since I am from Python background, it was easy to work with Flask, rather learning a new language.

3. Database – SQLite and SQLAlchemy for ORM

SQLite is serverless and requires zero configuration. Also, it is self – contained making it a great choice for deployment and portability.

4. Extensions – Flask_login, jinja

Flask_login helped me manage sessions and making logout and login easier. It helped me make role based access much more easier.

I used Jinja for templating.
